ABOUT FIRSTEDITING

Over 30 Years in Business

Established in 1994, FirstEditing has a rich history of helping both academics and authors achieve their publishing goals. We began as part of a larger writing organization before evolving into a dedicated, professional online editing service in 2007.

Over 80,000 Authors

Over the years, we've grown from a small team to a collaborative network that has fostered the success of tens of thousands of authors and their publishers. We offer affordable, professional editing services with personal reviews, private consultations, and clear deadlines – all designed to empower your authors on their path to publication.

ABOUT FIRSTEDITING

Proven Success

Thousands of 5-star reviews and happily published authors result in a strong business foundation built on returning clients.

"The editor did a great job. She understood my voice and what I was trying to do. Her suggestions improved the work and were grammatically correct. I also loved the fact that she got the job back earlier."

Lori was great. She accommodated all of my requests and found lots of ways to improve the manuscript. I also appreciated the follow up with emails and phone calls.

SINCE 1994

We have been working full-time for over three decades with authors worldwide to ensure their success. We also have an army of vetted, professional editors with extensive publishing experience and editorial training.

What I appreciated most was Katelynn's professional and thorough work in delivering a high-quality, quick turnaround while helping polish and catch items others might have missed. They not only captured the essence of the story but elevated it, adding depth and refinement in ways that exceeded my expectations.
